DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-8, 11-21, and 23-38 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Wen (U.S. Pat# 5,943,573) in view of Mettler, Jr. [4,567,545] and Tamarkin et al. [6,049,467].

Wen discloses an apparatus (Figure 4D) comprising: a substrate (reference 40) having a first elongated edge and a second elongated edge, wherein the elongated edges are opposite one another; a plurality of channels (references 43a, 43b) extending from the first elongated edge to the second elongated edge, a plurality of memory devices disposed on the substrate; and wherein each of the plurality of memory devices is coupled to one of the plurality of channels (Column 1, lines 36-44).

Wen disclose the instant claimed invention except for: electrical contacts at the opposite edges of the substrate configured to allow communications through the channels via the electrical contacts, and connecting portions at both ends of the module.

Mettler, Jr. discloses a substrate [46] supporting at least one integrated circuit chip [26] having a plurality of electrical contacts [48] connected at an end of the substrate by means of connectors [52, figure 7].

It would have been obvious to a person having ordinary skill in the art at the time invention was made to use the connection design of Mettler, Jr. for the memory module of Wen for the purpose of interconnecting the modules.

Tamarkin et al. disclose a plurality of memory modules each having a plurality of electrical contacts and having connection means at opposing ends [figure2].

It would have been obvious to a person having ordinary skill in the art at the time invention was made to use the connection design of Tamarkin et al. in Wen, as modified, for the purpose facilitating communication between a plurality of memory modules.

Regarding claim 5. Wen discloses an apparatus as recited in claim 1 wherein each channel includes a plurality of conductors, the plurality of conductors having lengths that are approximately equal (Figure 4d).

Wen and Mettler, Jr. disclose the electrical contacts being substantially the same length and extending across the modules.

Wen, as modified, discloses an apparatus as recited in claim 7. Wen further discloses wherein the channel portion to includes a plurality of conductors having lengths that are approximately equal (Figure 4d).

To add additional substrate modules would have been an obvious design consideration base on the desired memory capacity.

Tamarkin et al. disclose the memory modules being used on a mother board [12].

It would have been obvious to a person having ordinary skill in the art at the time invention was made to use the memory board with a mother board for the purpose of providing control circuitry for the memory modules.

It would have been obvious that the claimed method steps would have been inherent in the product structure.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-8, 11-21, and 23-38 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
